U. S. SEEKS TO STOP NAVAL RACE OF POWERS

THIRD ATTEMPT TO BE MADE IN DECADE PERIOD

DANGEROUS NAVAL RACE IN PAST BROUGHT GERMANY AND
BRITAIN IN WORLD WAR

PRESIDENT HOOVER LAST YEAR
DECIDED TO MAKE FINAL EF-FORT TO HALT NAVAL RACE

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 2.—As the new year opens the world is about to witness the third attempt by the United States within a decade to stop the naval race of the chief powers.

One week from today Secretary of State Stimson, heading the American delegation to the London arms conference, sails on the George Washington which carried Woodrow Wilson to the Paris peace conference.

Wilson's mission was to bring permanent peace to a war-torn world on the basis of the fourteen points. The mission which the United States now undertakes is to prevent another such dangerous naval race as that between Great Britain and Germany which led to the world war.

In 1921, the United States called the Washington arms conference and asked the other four leading naval powers to join in limiting their navies. France insisted upon such a heavy submarine fleet that Britain refused to limit her cruisers, insisting
they were necessary for defense.

The result was that battleship fleets
were reduced and limited but the powers remained free to build as many cruisers, submarines and destroyers as they wished. A cruiser building program by Britain provoked
a strong demand in America for a big cruiser fleet to match.

In 1927, the United States sought to ward off this threatened race by recalling the Geneva arms conference.
France and Italy refused to join. The conference broke up.

Last year President Hoover decided to make another—and what many in this country regard as a final effort to stave off a deadly naval race. Ramsay MacDonald, an outstanding British pacifist, became prime minister in May. Preliminary conversations began, followed by MacDonald's visit to the United States. It was decided to hold a naval conference in London.
Great Britain, with the co-operation of the United States, asked Japan, France and Italy to attend. All have accepted. The conference begins late in January.

Clouds are gathering. France has laid down conditions which cause
many here to doubt whether her demands can be satisfied. She insists first of all that any agreement at the London conference be purely tentative recommendations for the League of Nations' effort to achieve world disarmament. The United States prefers to work piecemeal and take what can be had without waiting for the league which has made little progress
in its disarmament plan.

Even if this difficulty can be adjusted by contingent arrangements,
France is still expected to insist upon such a large submarine fleet as to cause difficulty similar to that which frustrated the Washington conference
in its effort to limit cruisers and other minor craft.

The hopeful factor from the point of view of the United States is that there is substantial agreement with Britain. These two governments are within 30,000 tons of agreement on cruisers. Inasmuch as the Anglo-American differences over cruisers broke up the Geneva conference in 1927, the fact that this conflict is now practically settled has removed one major hurdle in advance.

President Hoover has appointed a large delegation to represent the United States consisting of: Secretary of State Stimson; Secretary of Navy
Adams; Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, a leading republican senator;
Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader of the senate; Charles G.
Dawes, ambassador to Great Britain;
Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico; Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium. Admirals William V. Pratt and Hilary Jones have been named chief naval advisors. A large staff of state department and naval experts
will accompany the delegation.

DE RIVERA TO ABANDON HIS DICTATORSHIP

Madrid, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Premier Primo de Rivera announced today that the king had approved his plan for abandonment of the dictatorship and establishment of a
so-called semi-normal government
in Spain.

The premier made his announcement after being received by the king at the palace.

As a result of the king's decision it was understood Primo de Rivera would remain in office indefinitely and that his plan for establishment of a one-chamber cortes would be carried out.

The modified form of constitution which the premier proposed necessitates the abolition of the 1876 constitution. This has been opposed by several factions.

Gov. Christianson Does Not Seek Re-Election

PRESIDENT HOOVER AND WIFE REST FROM GREETING STRAIN

Washington, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—The president and Mrs. Hoover rested
today from the strain of greeting
more than 6,000 persons from every walk of life at the annual White House New Year's reception yesterday.

From 11 o'clock in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon, both were busy almost continuously,
shaking hands of visitors and extending best wishes for the year.
Only diplomats, congressmen,
state officials, army and navy officers and their wives, attended
the morning reception but the White House was open to all in the afternoon, from 1 o'clock.

LITTLE NEWS OF RUSSIAN SEARCH FOR BEN EIELSON

PENDING CONSTRUCTION OF A SHORT WAVE RADIO SEND-ING STATION

SOVIET USING ESKIMOS IN LAND
SEARCH NEAR KOLUN-
CHINSK BAY

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Pending
construction of a short wave radio sending station at Providence Bay by the Russian party recently arrived
there to aid in the Eielson search,
little information is available concerning the progress of the latest expedition to join the Arctic hunt for the missing aviator.

Recent advices from other sources stated that the Russians, aided by Eskimos with dog teams, were conducting a land search in the vicinity of Koluchinsk Bay, where natives reported seeing a plane, until weather conditions permitted them to assemble their Junkers planes.

Meanwhile, Boris Chuknovsky, noted
Soviet flier, was speeding by train into Siberia where he will soon take to the air to join the searchers from the east.

The Arctic night, which reigns 'until Jan. 18, has prevented other aviators in Alaskan territory from entering the search for Carl Ben Eielson
and Earl Borland, missing near North Cape since Nov. 9.

Pilots Harold Gillingham and Joe Cro-
son were reported making daily
flights from their base at the ice-bound trader Nanuk, but so far had reported no signs of the lost fliers.

BUS LEAVES ROAD, CRASHES INTO BRIDGE

2 PERSONS KILLED, 7 INJURED IN ACCIDENT NEAR EATON,
OHIO

BIG VEHICLE SWERVED INTO
IRON BRIDGE WHEN FRONT
TIRE BLEW OUT

Eaton, O., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Two persons were killed and seven others were injured when a Greyhound lines bus left
the road and crashed into an iron bridge on the Richmond-Dayton pike,
four miles east of here today.

Those killed were Thomas Karney,
Alexandria, Ind., and Esther Masters,
30, Connorsville, Ind.
The big vehicle apparently left the road when a front tire blew out. It was en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh and left Richmond, Ind., about 1 A. M.

Those injured were Marian Franklin, Topeka, Kans.; Charles Franklin, Staten Island, N. Y.; Eric Maruck,
Springfield, O.; Anthony Gaylan,
Akron; Bernice Hollinbaugh, Detroit;
Sherman Berner, Chicago, and W. R.
Stratt, the bus driver, whose home is in Indianapolis.

THREATS HEARD OF RECEIVERSHIP

New York, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Threats
of a receivership for the vast Fox Film Corporation were made today by Stanley M. Lazarus, counsel for the Class A stockholders' protective committee, who added that the situation
in the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Corporation does not look encouraging.

ATTRIBUTE HIS DEATH TO ANGER

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Physicians here today attributed the death of Michael Bolds, 84, to anger. The aged man became ill after showing extreme anger because the noise made by children at play annoyed him. He died before reaching a hospital.

COMMUNIST MOB SCATTERED IN DETROIT, MICH.

VIOLENT DEMONSTRATION BY THEM DURING VISIT OF PRESI-DENT-ELECT OF MEXICO

RED PLACARDS DENOUNCE BOTH
AMERICAN AND MEXICAN GOVERNMENTS

Detroit, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—A mob of 200 communists scattered at strategic points throughout the crowd that welcomed President-elect Pasqual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico on his arrival here
last night, was broken up by police reserves after a violent demonstration against the Mexican and American
governments.

The near riot was a complete surprise to police. Only a few detectives had been stationed in the crowd of 2,000 which jammed the lobby of Michigan Central station.

The crowd was lined in two columns, leaving a wide aisle through which the president-elect and his party were to pass.

As the party entered the hall, first came a chorus of cheers, and then the jeers and catcalls of the agitators.
Red placards denouncing Rubio and President Hoover appeared as if by magic and were carried aloft as the crowd swept forward toward the presidential party.

The handful of detectives and patrolmen barred the way. Behind stood the president-elect, his quiet smile
never wavering. His three little children clung close to Mrs. Rubio who was pale but calm.

The crowd rolled up to the line of officers and broke and recoiled with a roar. Shrilly above the noise rose the oft-repeated word "murderer!"
The cardboard signs and swarms of paper leaflets were hurled at the party.

When the demonstration had calmed slightly, the police forced an avenue through the crowd and the distinguished visitors were placed in an automobile and taken to their hotel.

A riot call brought squad cars clanging to the depot. The crowd was dispersed and the few agitators who had started speeches were silenced. Their interrupted exhortations dealt with
"American imperialism" and demanded the release of "comrades in Mexican prisons."

Two of the ring-leaders of the demonstration were arrested. They are Phillip Raymond, 30, secretary of the

WEDDED BLISS WAS NOT BLISS FOR MR. CARL BLISS

Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Wedded bliss was not bliss for Carl Bliss, according to Mrs. Carl Bliss.
The woman got a divorce here
on grounds that her husband said
he did not want to be true to any woman, and then proved his statement by caressing other women in her presence, Mrs. Bliss asserted.
Bliss would, his wife said, leave her at the home of one of his friends while he took the friend's wife out on a date.

ASSASSIN FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO KILL INSPECTOR

INSPECTOR HENRY J. GARVIN OF DETROIT SHOT IN ARM
AND CHEST

DRIVING HIS CAR ALONE, HE WAS ASSAILED BY GUNMAN
IN ANOTHER CAR

Detroit, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—An assassin
failed in an attempt to kill Inspector Henry J. Garvin of the police crime and bomb squad shortly after 8 A. M.
today.

The inspector was shot in the arm
and chest. He was not seriously hurt.
He was driving his car alone, on his way to police headquarters when another car drew alongside and a volley
of bullets crashed through the window.

The inspector said he did not see the gunman, being occupied in guiding the car with his wounded arm
hanging useless.

Police could advance no specific reason for the attempt.

Headquarters was in a turmoil as every available officer was set on the trail of the gunman.

Lois Barlet, 11 years old, who was walking on the opposite side of the street, was struck by one of the bullets which passed through the inspector's car. Reports from police headquarters said she was seriously wounded.

Auto Workers' Union, and Lawrence
Gosman, 16.

Rubio was closely guarded by squad of police today. The presidential party was followed by armed police and no one without credentials
was allowed near their car.

STEERING GEAR CARRIED AWAY IN HEAVY SEA

VESSEL WALLOWING DANGER-OUSLY, WITH ALL CON-TROLS LOST

STEAMER OWNED BY PORTLAND
COMPANY, CARRIES NO
PASSENGERS

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—The steamship California was reported in distress 650 miles off the coast today.
An SOS said her steering gear had been carried away and she was wallowing dangerously in heavy seas.

The coast guard cutters Snohomish
and Haida were sent to her assistance.
The California is owned by the State Steamship Company of Portland, Ore. She was bound from Portland to Tokyo. She carries no passengers.

Lima, Peru, Jan. 2.—The Chilean coast-wise vessel Mapocho, enroute
from Panama to Valparaiso, went ashore today off Punta Negra, south of Samanco. The passengers remained aboard and it was not believed the ship was in danger. The Pacific Steam Navigation liner, Essequibo, enroute to New York, went to aid in refloating the Mapocho.

Ordered Hanged for Murdering Shoe Clerk

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Alphonse Riley, 22, formerly of Kansas City, today was ordered to be hanged
in San Quentin on March 14 for the murder of Abraham Sanelman, shoe clerk.

He was convicted of having shot
Sanelman to death while robbing a shoe store here.

Milk of One Cow Causes Epidemic of Sore Throat

Madison, Wis., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—An epidemic of septic sore throats which was indirectly responsible for six deaths, was traced by state health workers today to the milk of one cow.

The cow, one of many in a dairy
heard, will be slaughtered.

More than 300 cases of septic sore
throat were discovered and local, state and University of Wisconsin authorities combined to trace its source.

WM. J. McMILLIAN, OLDEST SHRINER IN U. S., DIES AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—William J. McMillian, veteran Great Northern railway conductor, believed to be the oldest Shriner in the United States, died here New Year's day
of pneumonia at the age of 88
years.

The veteran railroader once worked with Thomas A. Edison on the Great Western out of Kingston, Ont., and was said to have been the first man to take a telegraphic order from the electrical genius.

McMillian had been a Mason for 60 years.

DEATH LIST IN THEATRE FIRE RISES TO 70

SCORE MORE OF INJURED AT PAISLEY, SCOTLAND, HOVER-
ING NEAR DEATH

FUNDS FOR RELIEF OF SUFFER-ING FAMILIES POUR INTO
SCOTCH TOWN

Paisley, Scotland, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—
With the death list of children crushed
in the panic at the Glen Cinema motion picture theater standing at 70,
and a score more hovering between life and death in hospitals, funds for the relief of suffering families began pouring into Paisley today.

Preliminary investigations into the cause of Monday's tragedy, leading to the official inquiries which are to come from parliament and other bodies, show that nearly all, if not all,
of the victims died from asphyxiation,
by crushing or by bruises, and not
from inhaling carbon monoxide nor by burning.

After an executive meeting, the Paisley town council announced the opening of a relief fund to which the council subscribed $5,000. A similar sum was already offered by the Universal Pictures Corporation.

Paisley, Scotland, Jan. 2.—Charles Dorward, manager of the Glen Cinema theater, was arrested today
charged with culpable homicide. Seventy children lost their lives during a panic caused by a slight fire in the theater on New Year's Eve.

MYSTERIOUS BOMB SCATTERED DEATH AT PLEASANT, MD.

WRAPPED AS A GIFT, IT KILLED
MRS. N. H. BRADY, AN EX-
PECTANT MOTHER

HER MOTHER LOST SIGHT OF
ONE EYE, 7 OTHER PEOPLE
INJURED IN HOME

Washington, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—A search was being continued by Maryland and District police today for clues which might reveal origin of the mysterious bomb which scattered death and injury in a Pleasant, Md., home, near here yesterday.

The bomb, wrapped as a gift, killed
Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 30, an expectant mother, to whom it was addressed,
and injured seven others.

Mrs. Nora Hall, mother of Mrs.
Brady, lost the sight of one eye and was otherwise injured. Mrs. Margaret Bromley, 86, grandmother, is in a serious condition from shock. Four Hall children, Leslie, 13; Thomas, 8;
Sam, 19 months, and Dorothy, 4 months, were injured. Stewart Carneal, 15, a neighbor lad, was slightly cut by fragments.

The package was delivered by an unknown messenger. Members of the family gathered in the tiny kitchen
to watch the unwrapping, believing
the package to be a belated Christmas gift.

The explosion tore great holes in the walls of the room which it wrecked
almost completely. Its detonation was heard a mile away.

4 PATROLMEN AFTER WOLF IN PARK

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—Four
patrolmen today weaved through Penn Valley park in the center of Kansas City with riot guns at the "ready" and orders to shoot to kill at sight.

A wolf has strayed out of the forests, and taken refuge in the city park. The animal last night sprang upon Robert Johnson, 18, tearing his clothing before he was beaten.
Johnson described the animal as grey and hungry.

BELIEVED HE WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATE

HOWEVER, GOVERNOR IS WITH-HOLDING ANNOUNCEMENT OF POLITICAL PLANS

NAMES OF DOZEN LEADING POLI-TICIANS BROUGHT FORWARD
FOR GOVERNORSHIP

St. Paul, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—That Governor Theodore Christianson will be a candidate for United States senator in this year's elections definitely was indicated today when the state chief executive announced he would not be a candidate for re-election.

In a brief, formal statement, the governor neither denied nor affirmed
reports that he would oppose Senator Thomas D. Schall as the republican candidate for the senate, but declared that his political plans would be announced at a later date.

"In justifying my decision, I am convinced that I am doing what is best for the state," he said.

"It is too early to start the 1930
campaign, and I am therefore withholding announcement of my own political plans for this year until a later date."

Senator Schall for more than a year
has recognized Governor Christianson
as his probable opponent in the 1930
referendum and on many occasions referred to him indirectly as a tool of the millionaire lumber interests of Minnesota.

The blind senator repeatedly inferred the governor's candidacy and campaign would be sponsored by E. W.
Backus, leading midwest lumberman
and member of the firm of Backus-Brooks, which has consistently opposed Schall's program involving conservatism of northern Minnesota's timber resources.

With the definite announcement that Governor Christianson will be out of the gubernatorial race, the names of a dozen or more leading Minnesota politicians again were brought forward as probable republican candidates to succeed him.

Among the prospective candidates advanced were Ray P. Chase, state auditor; N. J. Holmberg, state dairy and food commissioner; Esie Brown,
head of the state highway patrol; former Governor J. A. A. Burnquist;
Mayor W. F. Kuntz of Minneapolis;
State Senator John Haugen of Crook-ston; Rep. Frank Claess of Redwood Falls; Gunner Bjornson, state tax commissioner, and Arthur E. Nelson, former mayor of St. Paul.

Selection of the candidate, state republican leaders have indicated, will be based largely on his strength against Floyd B. Olson, Hennepin county attorney, who is expected to be the farmer-labor candidate. Olson
has not announced his candidacy.

Governor Christianson first came into state political prominence in 1910
when he was elected a member of the legislature from Lac Qui Parle county.
He was re-elected in 1917, 1919, 1921
and 1923, serving during his last three terms as chairman of the house appropriations committee, one of the most important posts in the legislative body.

In a lively primary contest in 1926,
Gov. Christianson won the republican nomination for governor over a large field. In the fall election he defeated Floyd B. Olson, farmer-laborite, and Carlos Avery, democrat.

The governor was re-nominated in 1928 for a second term and in the election won by a wide margin over Magnus Johnson, former United States senator. Judge Alfred Jacques of Duluth was the democratic candidate.

In the last election Governor Christianson defeated Andrew Nelson, of Duluth, democrat, and Ernest Lau-deen of Minneapolis, farmer-laborite.
In addition to receiving prominent mention as a senatorial candidate for the past several years, Governor Christianson also was considered as a possible republican vice-president.

His terms as governor were marked
by policies of economy in public expenditures. During his first term he brought about a legislative act reorganizing the state government along practical business and efficiency lines.
Large savings were claimed effected
in his administrations through the merger and abolition of offices, reduction in state employees, creation of the state departments of finance and administration and avoidance of duplication in work.

St. Paul, Jan. 2.—Three Minnesota
office holders today announced their intentions as candidates in the coming elections.

Frank W. Matson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, said he would be a candidate for re-election;
Henry Madison, Sandstone, said as a candidate for state senator from the 56th district as opposed to Adolph F.
Larson, incumbent, and George E.
Higgins, clerk of the Wisconsin state
district court, said as republican candidate for clerk of the state supreme court, opposing Chief Justice
Davis, farmer-laborite.

DINNER DANCE IS
BRILLIANT AFFAIR

140 Guests Enjoy New Year's Festivities at the Ransford Hotel

DECORATIONS ARE BEAUTIFUL

Brainerd Country Club Members and Friends Greet the New Year

The New Year's Eve dinner dance given at the Ransford hotel Tuesday evening by the Brainerd Country Club proved to be one of the outstanding social events of the season. One hundred and forty guests were registered.

The evening opened with a five course dinner, and between each course two lovely dancers, Miss Hahler and Miss Stanley, of Minneapolis performed. For the dance, the Parisian Melody Boys of Fargo, a five piece orchestra now on tour, had been engaged. The boys were dressed in blue, white and red costumes, and the music furnished was excellent.

The two dining rooms and the lobby of the Ransford hotel had been elaborately decorated for the evening, a color scheme of red, white and green being carried out. The scheme of decorations was carried out by Edwin Burke, manager of the Ransford hotel, and received the commendation of all present.

The ladies were attired in their prettiest party gowns many in the pastel shades, with long skirts much in evidence.

The hostesses were as follows, Mesdames W. H. Cleary, A. C. Weber, C. E. Herzog, C. A. Ryan, W. V. Turcotte, C. E. Parker, E. O. Webb, W. R. Cleary, R. E. Wyett, R. L. Geist, Hal Day and Misses Mae Belle Grewcox and Winnifred Small.

There was an atmosphere of friendliness and good fellowship prevalent, the party breaking up at 2:30 A. M.

There were favors for everyone, also noisemakers. Some of the club members had guests from Minneapolis, Crosby and Aitkin. Following is the list of guests registered:

WORK ON PROJECTS TO BE LET JAN. 21

Highway Department Calls for Bids on Several Grading Projects and Bridges

Bids on two projects looking toward the completion of the unpaved gaps in trunk highway No. 3, will be received at the offices of the Minnesota Highway department Jan. 21. One is the grading of 12.5 miles on this route south from Hastings and the other the construction of two bridges over the railroad tracks north of Hastings. Bids on four other grading projects will be opened the same date, Commissioner C. M. Babcock announces.

The permanent route of No. 3 will follow the present route south from Hastings except that a curve with a quarter mile radius will replace the present square turn at the junction with No. 20, and two square turns near the south Hastings city limits will be eliminated.

One grading job, Lake Crystal to Madelia, will shorten the distance between these points three miles, remove one grade crossing and three square turns. The new route will parallel the railroad, on the south side.

Between Princeton and Milaca, the distance will be reduced 2.1 miles and six square turns will be eliminated. The new route will go on the east side of the railroad to Pease, then directly north through Milaca.

A grading job between Watkins and the east Stearns county line is a continuation of a job let in October from Annandale to the west Wright county line. The two jobs together will shorten the distance from Annandale to Watkins 3.2 miles, and eliminate one grade crossing and ten sharp turns. The new route follows close to the north side of the railroad, except at Kimball.

Included in the list is the grading of T. H. No. 20, from Pine Island to Rochester. This was advertised for letting in October but postponed.

The list of projects with distances and yardages follows:

Grading
T. H. No. 3—Between Hastings and Mesville, length 11.5 miles, 271,000 cu. yds. excavation.

T. H. No. 3—From west Goodhue county line east, length 1 mile, 21,000 cu. yds. excavation.

T. H. No. 16—Madelia to Lake Crystal, length 11.8 miles, 322,000 cu. yds. excavation.

T. H. No. 18—Princeton to Milaca, length 12.8 miles, 363,000 cu. yds. excavation.

T. H. No. 20—Pine Island to Rochester, length 16.4 miles, 692,000 cu. yds. excavation.

T. H. No. 69—Between Watkins and east Stearns county line, 6.6 miles, 271,000 cu. yds. excavation.

Bridges

T. H. No. 3—Near Hastings, bridge No. 4500-A, length 170 feet, and bridge No. 4500-B, length 189 feet.

Announcement is also made jointly by the Minnesota and Wisconsin Highway departments that bids will be opened Jan. 23 on the east approach to the proposed interstate bridge at Stillwater. The letting will be at the offices of the district engineer in Eau Claire. The two states will share the cost of the bridge and approaches. Bids on the bridge proper will be called for later.

Miss Mabel and Hortense McKay are spending their Christmas vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. McKay.

Mrs. John Strobel and children spent Christmas Day with the A. J. Andrews family.

The Willing Oak Leaves will meet with Mrs. Lawrence McCulloch on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 14. Election of officers will take place at this meeting. This meeting was held to take care of this business so the leaders might have the full afternoon at the February meeting which will be held at Mrs. John Strobel's Feb. 4.

Miss Elida Ostby is spending a few days at the Ernest Brand home at Pine Center.

Neitzsche's Philosophy

He that prefers the beautiful to the useful in life will, undoubtedly, like children who prefer sweetmeats to bread, destroy his digestion and acquire a very fretful outlook on the world.—Friedrich Wilhelm Neitzsche (1844-1900) in "Thus Spake Zarathustra."

Humanity's Voice Heard

ACCORDING to diplomatic tenets, we have no communication whatever with Russia, but when the voice of humanity is heard, when the United States is appealing to all possible agencies to find Ben Eielson, an American aviator and his mechanic, Carl Borland, caught in the maw of the mysterious, silent, frozen north, Russia and United States join hands in the mission of mercy.

True, President Hoover, when food commissioner, aided Russia in famine times. Then, as now, there was no exchange of ambassadors.

It is peculiarly in the province of the Russians to find Eielson and his companion. They are acquainted with conditions in the frigid north. They have the meteorological data, the information relating to every phase of travel and exploration in the north. And they have accomplished things too.

Chukovsky, an ace in the flying game, has to his credit the rescue of the dirigible Italia survivors located in the far north.

New aid enlisted and announced in the day's news is a huge Russian ice-breaker, which skillfully handled crunches its way northward through masses of ice, and will be an invaluable instrument in carrying supplies for the air patrol and establishing bases.

An ordinary man, unacquainted with the rigors of the north and unsupplied with food and weapons, would have perished before this. But Eielson and his companion carried food and weapons in their plane sufficient for a month. Eielson knows the country and has often jested with his family never to give up hope for a year any time he was lost.

You Can!

BELIEVE that you can—and you will not fail, though great be the task begun. Believe that you can—though hard the trail, and rugged the road you run. Have faith in yourself. Just know you can and you're simply bound to do; and never a barrier, bar or ban can keep you from carrying through.

Believe in yourself and then go in and work with your heart and soul. Believe in yourself and you'll surely win, no matter how far your goal. There's a marvelous force in the faith that springs from this great and noble strength it brings, the greatest of thought; by the magic spell of the deeds are wrought!

Believe in your soul that you will succeed. For as sure as you hold this thought you will back your faith with the power of deed, till the last hard fight is fought! Aye, hold to that thought and you'll do your part in the way that it should be done. Just start with a winner's confident heart, and your battle is really won!

So go to it, boy, and hit your stride, at the crack of the starting gun, and never falter or turn aside 'til the whole long course is run. You may not be brilliant, or clever, or smart; you may not be fast of pace, but if you have grit and a confident heart you'll be there at the end of the race.—The Optimist.

Value of Summer Tourist to Community

IN and out of season the Brainerd Dispatch has preached the value of the summer tourist who practically makes his home in the lake country. They become interested in the community, make investments and improvements, become taxpayers and to all intents and purposes are at least summer citizens.

An example is noted in the Battle Lake country near Fergus Falls. A new 180-acre airport will be built on the shores of Battle Lake by P. C. Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns baseball club.

Ball, an ardent supporter of aviation projects and a backer of Col. C. A. Lindbergh's Paris flight, has spent the past thirty summers in Ottentail county and is associated with the Ryan Airplane corporation. Instead of traveling by train or car in the future, he will fly from St. Louis to his summer home.

International Exchange of Views

LOUIS YAGER, assistant chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway, a former Brainerd man, who is president of the American Railway Engineering Association, returned to his St. Paul headquarters last week after having attended the World Engineering Congress at Tokyo, Japan, October 29 to November 7. On the trip he was accompanied by Mrs. Yager.

A member of a party of more than 200 engineers, scientists, educators and men prominent in business life in the United States, Mr. Yager participated in all of the sessions of the congress, which was sponsored by the Engineering Society of Japan. He said that the major benefit obtained was the international exchange of views by men outstanding in their professions. Engineering progress has been made in China and throughout the Orient, he asserted.

Not Meeting with Applause

THE Fergus Falls Journal says that the plan of the Interstate Commerce commission for merging the railways of the nation is not meeting with any loud or prolonged applause. The public never expects anything from the commission, the railways are not showing any special enthusiasm, and Prof. Ripley, who originated the idea, says the plan worked out is about as bad as it is possible to make it.

THE combined efforts of the music school at the University of Minnesota will be mustered for the presentation of the first opera in the history of the school in the new Cyrus Northrop Memorial auditorium on January 17 and 18. The presentation is the first indoor opera by the school and has a cast of 200 students from more than 40 towns of the Northwest.

NEW YORK is to mark all spots of historic interest along its state roads. We in the Brainerd Lake Region can well afford to have all our historic points marked for the edification of the many tourists and to post our own people on our history.

AND now comes the supreme effort of the year, writing 1930 when you unconsciously swing to writing 1929.

MANY a girl smokes cigarets simply for the attention it attracts.

Witness in Mystery Death

A new woman witness who may aid the District Attorney's Office in its investigation of possible murder and forgery involving out of the death of former State Senator George Lafayette Finn, Iowa millionaire, will be questioned. She is Mrs. Pearl Crane, who is alleged to have been in the Finn case.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Another Reduction

in Long Distance Telephone Rates

Effective January 1st

The fourth reduction in long distance charges in a little more than three years, which will result in a substantial saving to telephone users, was placed in effect on January 1. The reductions are, in brief, as follows:

1. Day station-to-station calls (when you ask to talk with anyone available) for which the former rates were from 50 cents to $1.50 were reduced 5 or 10 cents.
2. Overtime charges on person-to-person calls (when you ask to talk with a specified person) were reduced substantially for conversations of more than 10 minutes in length.
3. The report charge on most calls over distances of more than 88 miles was reduced all the way from 5 to 40 cents.
4. A few person-to-person rates which formerly were 70 cents to $1.90 and a few evening rates which formerly were 40 cents to $1 were reduced 5 cents.

Following are representative new and old rates for day station-to-station calls (three-minute conversation).

FROM BRAINERD TO	Old Day Station-to-Station	New Day Station-to-Station
Austin	$1.10	$1.00
Fergus Falls	.70	.60
Minneapolis or St. Paul	.80	.70
St. Cloud	.50	.45
Virginia	.85	.70

These reductions are in accordance with the aim of this Company to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with financial safety. The development of carrier current systems, storm proof cable and other improvements in equipment and practices have contributed toward making these reductions possible.

EAST GRID TEAM WITH NAGURSKI

DISPLAY THEIR SUPREMACY ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

SCORE 19 TO 7 IN THE SHRINE ALL-STAR CHARITY GAME

PETERS DROP KICKS PERFECTLY FROM 35-YARD LINE IN FIRST HALF

San Francisco, Jan. 2.—(U.P.)—East-ern football players, led by Jack Cannon of Notre Dame, Frosty Peters, Illinois, and Bronko Nagurski, Minnesota, displayed their supremacy over the west when they defeated the best aggregation the Pacific slope had to offer, 19 to 7, in the Shrine all-star charity game.

The game, played here yesterday before a crowd of 40,000, produced touchdowns by Bill Glassgow of Iowa and Hal Booma of Dartmouth, and two perfectly executed kicks by the famous "Frosty." The west's touchdown was made by Sloan of Nebraska.

The east's first score, made in the opening quarter, was accomplished on a long pass, Peters to Booma, which landed in the Dartmouth man's arms, safely over the goal line.

A drop kick from the 35-yard line by Peters and a touchdown by Glassgow, who slipped six yards through the west line, brought the score to 16 to 0 at the end of the half.

The third quarter marked the west's only score, Sloan of Nebraska ending a march from mid-field with a one-yard plunge over the goal line. The goal was kicked.

A field goal from the Illinois University trained toe of Frosty Peters resulted in the final score of the day.

The game, played for the benefit of the Shrine hospital for crippled children, was the fifth annual east-west all-star contest.

CALIFORNIA'S AERIAL CH

BEMIDJI HAS SEASONED TEAM FOR GAME HERE ARE SMOTHERED 47 TO 14 BY ACCURATE SHOTS

SNAPPY CONTEST SEEN IN GAME WITH BRAINERD HIGH IN NEW GYM FRIDAY NIGHT

EVEN BREAK GIVEN 2 RIVALS; KASCH'S TEAM IN GOOD FORM FOR THE ENCOUNTER

Bemidji high will bring to Brainerd tomorrow a seasoned, well balanced squad to clash with the Blue and White in the first game on the new gymnasium with a team from out of the city.

The which takes place, starting at 8 P. M. tomorrow, will provide a thrillingly appropriate opening for the hundreds of fans.

An even break is given the two teams to win. The rivalry between these two teams in past seasons has developed through the close scores by which the games have been won, Bemidji winning two and Brainerd one.

Coach Kasch has given the team several new plays for the opening classic and has made corrections necessary since the alumni game.

The starting lineup which at present is uncertain, will be selected from the following: Captain Guin, Hautala, Garvey, B. Foster, E. Foster, Hoffbauer, Schuety and Clausen.

Other men who have been showing up well in scrimmage are Mayo who is developing well as a running guard although his size is a handicap; Donald Guin, younger brother of the invincible Carol; White, a freshman; Coffey, Templeton, Kleven, Johnson and Dryberg.

Lewis of Moose Lake will officiate as referee.

Squad B worked out on the gym

this afternoon and will practice again tomorrow at 2:30 P. M.

The Brainerd Ladies Band will play for the event.

Basketball Games

The Inland Steel Rangers will play the Keewatin City team at the Crosby Armory on Sunday, January 5, at 3 P. M.

On Wednesday night, January 8, the Rangers will play the Montgomery Ward team of Brainerd at the Iron-ton school gym.

Old Stars That Shine Still

"DOC" Willing - PORTLAND GOLF YET WHO HAD A GREAT YEAR IN 1929!

THEY IMPROVE WITH AGE!
THE SPORT BUG.

TIME is the cruellest, yet the most sentimental factor in sportdom. It dooms champions remorselessly while casting them in their most gloriously appealing light. It rusts or roughly removes crowns while weaving all sorts of romantic chaplets and legendary laurels about the brows of aging athletes. For surely, when old stars manage to twinkle with flashes of great form they produce "music of the spheres," so far as fans are concerned.

Consider Dr. Oscar Willing, runner-up to Harrison "Jimmy" Johnson who won the national amateur golf championship last September. The doughty doctor is a serious competitor. He asked and gave no quarter, his failure to concede some putts occasioning considerable criticism of a not too sound nature. He played hard-boiled, honest golf throughout and, despite the stiffest of opposition, he came within one game of acquiring Bobby Jones' most famous title.

Because the name Tilden has personified American tennis for so many years, some overlook the strong popularity and remarkable record of "Old Bill's" pal and rival Francis T. Hunter. The latter is another of those veteran stars who frequently reveal championship form. Tilden and Hunter—most thrilling "Old Master" team in tennis—can still beat most opposition. There are less than ten racquetters in the world who would be conceded a chance to beat that pair of veterans, individually or as a team.

Then there's the wrinkle-browed, spill-scarred, and still ragged Reggie McNamara, Nestor of all six-day-bike-racers, who has won far more such team races than any other cyclist and who still is pedaling ably in all those big grinds. Time has taxed Reggie heavily, but he has still enough power left to be rated among the powerful in six-day cycling. Over a stretch of close to ten years, McNamara was considered the greatest that ever starred in his grueling specialty.

Naturally, it takes a long while for such a big star to set.

PITT BACKFIELD STARRED OFFENSIVELY, BUT COULD NOT BREAK AIR ATTACK

PANTHER GIVEN WORST TRIMMING OF ANY OPPONENT IN TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

By GEORGE H. BEALE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 2.—The University of Pittsburgh football team spent a season building a brilliant record and preparing to claim a national championship but it failed to develop an adequate defense against forward passes.

Yesterday when it had a chance to bid for the title, it was smothered 47 to 14, under the accurate overhead game of the University of Southern California.

The Pitt backfield starred offensively but it was pitifully weak in its attempt to break up the air attack and the Panther was forced to take the most decisive trimming ever handed out to a team in the annual Tournament of Roses New Year's day game.

Southern California threw passes over Rose Bowl, it seemed, and usually a sure-fingered Trojan was under the ball when it came down.

Four times the Trojans went into the air to score touchdowns. On other occasions forward passes put the ball in scoring position.

Uansa, Parkinson, Wallichus, Baker and all the other Pitt backs seemed completely bewildered by the passing attack.

The passes were thrown mostly by Russell Saunders who played a brilliant game. Edelson, Pinckert and Wilcox did most of the receiving.

Pitt turned in two touchdowns by passes. On the first, a long shot from Uansa was caught over the goal line by Wallichus. On the second, Williams, a southpaw, put a clothes line pass in Collins' hands and the latter ran across.

The most thrilling play of the game came before the crowd was settled in the Rose Bowl. On the first attempt after the initial kickoff, Uansa went off tackle, evaded Southern California backs and apparently was off to a touchdown.

Sixty-four yards he travelled before the speedy Saunders overtook him and pulled him down on the Southern California 15-yard line. A pass that was grounded over the goal line took away Pitt's chance to score.

Montgomery, all-American guard, played a nice game in the line for Pitt. Donchess, another widely heralded Pitt star, did well defensively.

Despite the size of Southern California's score, the game held the interest of the 70,000 fans throughout. Pitt had no alibi.

"We were beaten by a better team, that's all," said Jack Sutherland, the Panther coach.

The easterners spent today touring in Hollywood. Tomorrow they will go on an aerial tour of Southern California and Saturday will start east.

Virginia Once First

In 1790, when the first census was taken, Virginia ranked ahead of all the states both in population and commerce. At that time Virginia's population was twice as great as that of New York, and she was a far more prosperous state.

Banish the Cork

If the cork has fallen into a bottle you wish to keep for future use, pour enough household ammonia into the bottle to float the cork. Let it stand a few days and the cork will break into fine pieces, allowing it to slide out of the mouth of the bottle with ease.

Killed By Coast Guard As a Narcotic Suspect

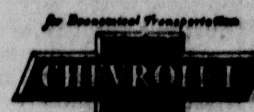

Eugene Downey, 27, son of Police Lieut. Eugene F. Downey, was shot and killed by a coast guardsman while cruising in a small boat on the Niagara River. According to authorities, he failed to stop in answer to a command from the coast guardsman (who believing him a narcotic suspect) opened fire with a machine gun.

"The Cocoanuts," the hilarious musical comedy success, starring those incomparable comedians, the Marx Brothers, considered by many to be the funniest and most talented entertainers on the stage today, will be shown at the Paramount theatre tonight and Friday. Needless to say, the Four Marx Brothers whose gay, irrepressible antics were responsible for the original success of "The Cocoanuts," play the same roles in this audacious screen version as they did in the New York presentation. Supporting these famous stars are a number of Broadway favorites, including Mary Eaton and Oscar Shaw who co-starred in the well-remembered musical comedy success, "The Five O'clock Girl."

Word was received today of the death of Mrs. Loden Curry at her home in Staples this morning. She was a former resident here, and the mother of Master Mechanic Howard Curry.

While walking down the platform of the old freight depot, Mrs. J. M. Glunt, stepped off the platform accidentally
and fell some five or six feet to the ground. She was almost unconscious and Dr. R. A. Beise was immediately summoned. She was quite badly bruised and her ankle injured. The accident occurred at noon just at train time and she was about to take the train with her husband and little daughter to go on a trip to the coast
for a few weeks visit.

FOUR ARRESTS ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Jacob Benner Avers He Had Three Gallons of Liquor to Preserve His Health

FINED $75 AND COSTS

Police Officers Raid His Residence on Complaints, Man Claims Neighbors Jealous

Police officers arrested four in the city New Year's eve, three for drunkenness and one for maintaining a nuisance.

When Jacob Benner, 1009 7th avenue N. E. appeared before Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court to explain how it happened that officers found three gallons of liquor in his home, he testified that he never sold liquor but kept it for his own consumption.

"I drink it to keep in health," Benner told the court. He explained that the only time he had ever been in court before was for driving a car without a rear light. He said he had been employed at the paper mill since it was started and that he was 72 years old.

Officers raided Benner's home on complaints of residents in the neighborhood.

"They were jealous of me," Benner told the court.

Benner was fined $75 and costs on his plea of guilty. He paid the fine.

Glenn Schnell, Lauren Nichol and Otto Heikkinen were each fined $10 on their pleas of guilty to intoxication.

LOWEY OFF TO SCHOOL

Returns to Resume Studies at Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken

John R. Lowey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Lowey, 603 North Fourth street, state winner in the Edison scholarship contest, has returned to the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., after a ten days visit at the home of his parents.

Young Mr. Lowey was awarded a scholarship at the Stevens Institute for his brilliant showing at the Edison national contest at Orange, N. J. He gave out the following statement in explanation of the school before leaving:

"The Stevens Institute of Technology is in Hoboken, N. J., just across the river from New York City. There are about 500 students, these taking the course in mechanical engineering which is the only one the school offers. Stevens was the first school in the United States to give a degree of M. E. and its degree still ranks one of the highest.

"School life is varied, studies not being solely emphasized. In fact, to rank high, the student must participate in outdoor activities. The closeness of the school to New York makes the uptown and downtown districts merely 15 minutes away but the distance is great enough to place the school out of the bustle and noise."

NATION'S CORNERSTONE

Embodied in Homes, Says Building and Loan Head

During the past year the resources of the Twin City Building and Loan Association increased $1,046,151.26 to a total of $3,066,412.14 according to A. M. Blaisdell, president of the association. During the same period the association paid out $155,000 in dividends to investors the rate being 7 per cent on its Class A shares and 5 per cent on its Class B shares. During the year 597 loans on homes were made on the first mortgage, monthly payment plan aggregating $970,000.

"The past year has been the most prosperous year in our history just as every previous year had been," said Mr. Blaisdell "and it appears, from every sign, that 1930 will far exceed the accomplishments of 1929."

James K. Michie is the representative for the Association in the Brainerd district. Besides offering its shares to the investing public the association also is prepared to make loans on homes in the city.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to thank all neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother. Also do we wish to include those who sent the beautiful floral offerings. These considerations and kindnesses will never be forgotten.

ANDERSONS FACE COURT

Held to District Court at Aitkin on Grand Larceny Charge Over Wolf Bounties

Charged with grand larceny, Rev. Herbert J. Anderson and Dewey G. Anderson, wolf hunters extraordinary, have been bound over to the Aitkin county district court following a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. B. Gilmore at Aitkin. Bail was set at $3,000 each.

The Andersons were arrested after investigation by county officials into alleged irregularities in securing bounties on wolves. County records, which led to the investigation, disclosed that the Andersons applied for 498 wolf bounties in one township in Aitkin county from June 4 to December 6, 1929.

Explaining Odd Names

When the founder of Tombstone, Ariz., was starting out on his prospecting tour, he was assured that he would "find his tombstone." Thus the town was named. Flagstaff was named from a pole set by a party of emigrants who camped near and celebrated the Fourth of July.

1930 USHERED IN WITH MERRIMENT

Merrymakers Crowd Downtown Gathering Places to Extend Rousing Welcome

ORDERLY CELEBRATIONS

Parties Held at U. C. T. Auditorium, Ransford Hotel, Theatre and Homes

Brainerd said "Happy New Year" in an enthusiastic manner Tuesday night. Merrymakers crowded downtown gathering places to extend a rousing welcome to 1930. Delightful weather favored those who left their homes to join in the New Year's festivities.

While the joymakers made merry all the celebrations were orderly.

Dancers to the number of over 300 greeted the new year with noisemakers at the Legion's annual dance. Over at the Ransford hotel a similar welcome was extended although not so voluminous. Some 70 couples attended the Brainerd Country club dinner dance.

Theatregoers crowded the new Paramount where a special program of all talking features including "The Four Coccinuts" was presented at a midnight show.

Many parties were held at different homes throughout the city while "open house" was observed by many homes. Parties following downtown celebrations continued the joymaking far into the night.

FIRST ALARM OF YEAR

Fire Department Extinguishes Blaze in Roof at 224 North 9th Street Yesterday

The Brainerd Fire Department answered its first alarm of the new year, yesterday at 11:35 a. m., it being a roof fire at the home of John A. Johnson, 224 North Ninth street caused by sparks from the chimney. The damage was estimated at $5.

BUICK, CHEVROLET RESUME PRODUCTION

FISHER BODY PLANT NO. 1 AND OTHER SUBSIDIARY RE-OPENING PLANTS

Flint, Mich., Jan. 2. — (RE) — The Buick and Chevrolet Motor Company plants will resume production within a few days, it was announced here today.

Fisher body plant No. 1, supplying the Buick Company, reopened today, as did several subsidiary plants of both Buick and Chevrolet.

The announcement from Charles S. Barth, vice-president and operations manager of Chevrolet, said 11,000 of the normal force of 14,000 workers, would be put back on five day schedules next week, after months of work on a short-schedule basis.

"We are in the best of condition," said Barth. "The outlook for 1930 is bright."

President E. T. Strong of Buick announced immediate re-opening of the paint, trimming and body departments of the Buick factory. Other departments will resume operations as soon as materials can be secured.

The A. C. spark plug factory will increase its payroll of 3,500 men to nearly 5,000 within a few weeks.

No work will be available for outsiders, plant managers said. Only Flint workers who were laid off when production stopped, will be put back to work.

HAAS WANTS EXAMINATION

Miss Keith Clark to Deliver Lecture at Elks Temple Monday Evening

Miss Keith Clark who is to speak to the members of the Brainerd Musical club and their friends Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Elks Temple is a former editorial writer on the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press. She specialized in the writing of editorials on the foreign field. Since leaving the editorial staff she has made the field of international law her special study.

She has observed the working of several international organizations on the spot in Paris, The Hague, Brussels, London and Geneva. This close association with international affairs has added greatly to her vast fund of knowledge.

Miss Clark has published two books The Spell of Spain, The Spell of Scotland. This year she will publish a third book on the participation of the United States in international organizations.

To her the dramatic situations between nations are more interesting than the drama wherein people act.

Fifty Men Expected at Annual Meeting to Discuss Important Scout Matters

"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

Enid Monroe, young daughter of a cultivated New York family, has been loved since school days by Ned Grier and Dick Grant. The two boys have been chums, and the friendship grows with the years. Enid favors Dick. Ned invites her to the Senior Prom. She does not know it was chance, the toss of a coin, that had prevented Dick from doing so. In the meantime, Ned becomes interested in Pearl, hotel check-room girl. Dick gets suspicious when Ned neglects his studies to keep an appointment with her. The night before Enid and her mother arrive, Ned confides in Dick that Pearl is making trouble. At the dance, Enid notices Pearl glare at her. Later, when Dick takes Enid into the garden, Pearl suddenly appears, calling for Ned. Dick's quick wit prevents Enid learning of the affair. Next day, Dick visits Pearl in Ned's behalf. When she threatens to make Ned marry her, Dick warns her it is impossible because of her reputation. She agrees to forswear Ned. The boys graduate from college and leave for New York.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER VI.
THEY went into the smoking compartment for a cigarette. As they sat down after they came back, Dick said:

"I wonder if Enid's mother would let her go out to dinner."

"I was thinking about that. The roofs are open now. I'd like to do a little stepping out."

"What do you think?" asked Dick. "You know New York better than I do."

"We can try it. Which one of us will ask her first?"

"Got your bones with you?" he asked.

"Never travel without them," laughed Ned, reaching in his pocket and producing a pair of dice.

"Shoot," he said.

Dick rolled the dice and lost.

"Well," he said, "that's that."

"You haven't been getting the breaks lately, Dick," said Ned, putting the dice in his pocket.

"Luck's been running with me," and he settled back in his chair.

They looked out of the window for a while until Ned gave a low whistle.

"Luck was with me getting rid of Pearl, all right," he almost groaned. "What an escape! Couldn't have managed it without you, Dick."

It was the first time Ned had spoken of Pearl.

"Did you see her before you left?" asked Dick, feeling that since Ned had broached the subject he could pursue it.

"No, but I ran into her little sister yesterday."

"What did she say?"

"She said Pearl had been offered a fine position in Boston; that it must be a good one because she was looking for an apartment there."

"Barnum was right," was Dick's only comment.

They pulled into Grand Central. Two fine, strapping young men they were, as they stepped off the train and strode down the platform, well over six feet and trained down to fighting weight, bodies and minds equipped and ready to step into the ring for the battle with life. The world—and love—were before them.

"There's Enid!" Dick shouted, catching a glimpse of her standing by the rope behind which a crowd waited to meet the train.

"Dave couldn't meet you," Enid laughed. "So he sent me."

The color rushed into her face as she glanced quickly from one to the other, but when she looked up into Dick's face her eyes lowered, remembering that kiss.

"Enid," said Ned, drawing close to her, "could you dine with me tonight?"

"That's awfully sweet of you, Ned, but Mother told me to bring you both home for dinner if you have no other plans. Dave is expecting you, too."

"Fine," both answered as one, but for Dick it was the finer.

"Perhaps tomorrow night we can all go somewhere to dinner," suggested Dick. "Where's the place to go now?"

"I'd agree going to the Ritz roof," smiled Enid—"that is, if Mother will let me." She paused a moment. "I think she'll let me go with you, though. Wouldn't it be fun?" And she gurgled a laugh of anticipation as only a seventeen-year-old girl can.

It was like old times, at the Monroes' for dinner. Sweet little Mrs. Monroe, as she sat at the head of the table surrounded by the boys she had known so long, smiled almost as gayly as her lovely young daughter.

"What are your plans for the summer, boys?" asked Mrs. Monroe. "Too bad you can't be in Europe this summer with us."

They were sailing shortly, Enid having been entered for the Autumn in a school in Paris.

"Tomorrow we'll know our fate," announced Ned. "My uncle is taking us down to the oil company, and if they think we took all right, we'll get right to work in the school they run for potential oil magnates."

"Splendid," said Mrs. Monroe. "I'm sure they'll think you're both all right."

"You never can tell," laughed Dick.

Thus pleasantly the evening passed, and, before the boys left Mrs. Monroe had given her consent to Enid's going out the next night with them.

How Enid's eyes sparkled as her mother put her arm around her and said she thought that she would be safe with them.

Dick and Ned arrived at seven-thirty, after Enid had combed her hair over at least half a dozen times and powdered her little nose so often that it looked pink.

She floated down the stairs to the library, where they were waiting. There was Dick, and beside him was Ned, striking an attitude like a United States Senator about to make a speech, with one hand thrust into the waistcoat of his dinner suit.

"Behold two of our country's most influential oil men," exclaimed Enid.

"Did you get your jobs?" exclaimed Enid.

Dick nodded his head, and Ned said:

"From tomorrow morning, watch a spectacular rise in the company's stock."

"You start right away?" she asked excitedly. "How perfectly thrilling!"

"Nine o'clock tomorrow morning will see the ambitious young men at their desks," declared Ned.

"I do congratulate you," said Enid, taking a hand of each in her little ones. "and wish you all the luck in the world."

How exciting Enid found it, sitting there at the table with Ned and Dick! The music was lovely and everybody looked so smart.

Really she'd never had a lovelier evening, dancing first with Ned and then with Dick. Those dances with Dick, his arm around her and her hair brushing his chin! Had he thought of that kiss?

When would he kiss her again; and would he say anything to her if he did kiss her? It was only a few days now before she would sail. Would she see him alone?

"We're going to keep bachelor hall this Summer," Ned said during dinner.

"What fun?" Enid commented.

"Yes," Ned continued. "Mother and Father are going to the country, and Ellen, our old cook, is coming to look out for us."

"How nice," said Enid.

"It's awfully good of Ned to want me to stay with him," said Dick. "I'd be pretty lonely in New York by myself."

"Don't be silly," laughed Ned. "You're doing me a favor."

With all Ned's apparent enthusiasm over his new job, he was dejected to think that he could not be in Europe with Enid. He had hoped down in his heart that their positions would not be open so soon. Perhaps something would happen that he could get over to around in his mind.

But Dick—Dick was looking further. Get established. Sacrifice the joy of being with her now for the glory of being in a position to go to her and ask her to marry you. Work. Don't waste a minute. Work and get ahead. Make her proud of you.

Enid and her mother sailed. She did not see Dick alone for one single moment. They were busy all day and went everywhere together in the evening. One afternoon Dick did drop in before dinner. Perhaps—but Dave had come home and never left them alone for one single moment. Sometimes brothers are an awful bother.

That night for sailing had come so soon—

It was Ned who managed to be alone with Enid up on the windswept boat deck, away from the groups of passengers and their friends who were seeing them off.

"I've been waiting all evening to say good-bye to you, Enid," he said.

She turned away from the intensity of his gaze. It was Dick she was hoping to say good-bye to alone.

"Good-bye . . . good-bye . . . bon voyage . . . all ashore . . . don't forget to cable" . . . whistles blowing.

There they were waving their hats to her. She was looking at them—just a little sadly, too. Ned thought she was looking at him, but the only person whom Enid saw in the crowd under the lights on the pier as the tugs nosed in to push the big ship into midstream was Dick. Dick with his black hair blowing across his forehead and his dark eyes straining to hold Enid's wistful little smile.

The Summer was a long one for Ned and Dick. Hard work in the big offices of the oil company downtown. Every one was out of town and there was not much to do in the evenings.

This did not annoy Dick. He was working with his whole heart and soul. What did diversion or amusement matter now? He projected himself to the time ahead when he could be with Enid. Nothing really was important except that. He was willing to come home, have dinner, read a little while and go to bed.

But Ned chafed under the routine. He would much rather have been in Europe—or, at least, not working. He slaved through the week like a drudge, only waiting for week-ends to come when he could be free.

The Autumn passed quickly. The work was harder and more absorbing. There were only a few weeks more now.

December came. The course was finished; they were ready to enlist in the great army of workers. Their orders came.

The boy from the East was ordered to Oklahoma, and the boy from the West to the Orient, via Europe.

Ned was to leave on the Century the following Saturday, and Dick was booked on the Leviathan to sail at eleven o'clock of the same morning.

The night before parting they dined at the club and hardly spoke. Ned was thinking of Dick's seeing Enid in Paris and, although he loved him dearly, he was jealous and sore to think he was not the one who had been given the job to make the trip around the world.

Dick, on the other hand, could hardly conceal his eagerness to sail, yet he was dejected to think that tomorrow he was to leave his friend and roommate. Rotten luck they couldn't have gone together. He certainly had gotten the breaks this time. But it was tough on Ned—he had expected Ned to be sent to the East.

Of course, Ned was at the ship to see Dick off. There, however, they had little to say to each other, for their parting was a fearful wrench.

They gripped each other's hands. Ned tried to veil his disappointment that it was Dick who was to be with Enid in Paris.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR MURDERER

LEAPED UPON PRIVATE IRA S JONES AT FT. SNELLING, CRUSHING SKULL

St. Paul, Jan. 2.—(UP)—Ft. Snelling military police, aided by civil officers, today continued their hunt for the murderer who leaped upon Private Ira S. Jones in a dark barracks basement, crushed his skull with an ax and robbed him of a small sum of money.

Private Jones of the Third Infantry was fatally beaten on New Year's Eve as several of his companions were grouped about a radio in the nearby recreation rooms. News of his death, four hours later, was withheld by officers in the hope that the murderer might be caught off guard.

The murdered soldier was the tailor of H Company and usually carried a fair amount of money. It was believed, however, that he had only about $35 when he was killed. None of Jones' comrades heard sounds of a struggle.
